The latest RINO who calls it quits is Fred Upton.

He won't look for re-election, and Trump was quoted stating, "UPTON QUITs! 4 down and 6 to go. Others losing badly, who's next?".

RINOs leaving the ship? I didn't know they could swim.

Breitbart reported:

Rep. Fred Upton (R-MI) on Tuesday announced his exit from Congress, notching up a 40-percent exit rate among House Republicans who voted to impeach Donald Trump.

Just before announcing his retirement, Upton noted in a campaign email on Tuesday "very positive" poll numbers in his primary race against Trump-endorsed Rep. Bill Huizenga (R-MI). Both Huizenga and Upton were running for the same seat due to state redistricting.

"I got a lot of unfinished business that I'm going to be working on now. ... But no, this was our decision, independent of what I did with Trump," Upton said, acknowledging his failed vote to impeach Trump.

Upton joins three other pro-impeachment Republicans to forgo running for reelection. Those include Reps. John Katko (R-NY), Anthony Gonzalez (R-OH), and Adam Kinzinger (R-IL).

Additional pro-impeachment Republicans may also not make it to the November midterms. Reps. Tom Rice (R-SC) and Liz Cheney (R-WY) are facing tough reelection campaigns. Donald Trump called Rice "a disaster" in March and said he is "laughed at in Washington."
