

Biden lied as Americans died: Coffin suppliers, insurance companies, embalmers, funeral directors and miscarriage reports confirm vax deaths spiked as the CDC hid critical data

Description

The COVID pandemic has two new forms, in addition to continuing preventable deaths from viral infection – nearly 3,000 a week in the US. One is increasing levels of long COVID that does not kill, but ruins quality of life. I have already published articles on this. Here I explore the second new manifestation, namely excess deaths not due to infection but resulting from vaccines. How are vaccines killing large numbers of people? In brief, the vaccines ruin immune systems and damage blood. So people are dying from various ailments and diseases, including cardiac problems.

Government agencies have played many games to hide vaccine induced excess deaths.

A large medical literature continues to evolve on these excess deaths mean death rates in 2021 and 2022 significantly above rates prior to the pandemic. And many studies have linked vaccines to these high excess death rates. Below I cite several sources where details have been published. Though it takes time, reading these sources will enlighten you about vaccine induced deaths.

Mathew Crawford, a great analyst, said: “that vaccine deaths were seemingly classified as COVID-19 deaths, [and] my estimation of the death toll quickly grew. Now I personally suspect that over 100,000 Americans have been killed by the experimental vaccines. Others I know think the number may be as large as a quarter of a million.” Based on my extensive reading I think the latter is likely.

From the introduction:

“Official all-cause mortality statistic that get released to the public are often delayed 6-12 months after year end, and even then they can be designated interim – subject to change. So if you want to identify a spike in deaths within a population how would you get an early warning signal?

Boots-on-the-ground organizations notice up ticks and spikes in sales or staffing numbers. When this happens in industries that deal with deaths, alarm bells should be going off, especially when these deaths are in healthy working age groups, children and near births, and where COVID-19 has not been attributed to their death!

Some whistleblowers have been speaking out about anomalies in their work space since mid 2021, but when in late 2021 the data came out from an insurance company that they had experienced a 40% increase in life insurance payouts in the working age group in 2021, equivalent to 4 times a 200 year catastrophic event, that got Wall Street's attention.

The unprecedented death numbers were not COVID-19, but happened to coincide with the timing of the roll-out of the experimental, brand new technology, emergency use COVID-19 vaccines. The catastrophic effect of the draconian "mitigation" rules imposed on the healthy population of the world had already been in place for a year, it may be a contributing factor, but doesn't necessarily explain the timing. And if that was the explanation, then the "cure" is excessively worse than the burden of the disease.

Using other means to identify excess mortality

Particular industries that work with death statistics, there is both anecdotal information, and hard statistics, that expose alarming death numbers, which sadly is now showing up in little children, and expected to get worse.
