

Biden's former 'Minister of Truth' was a disinformation expert who took part in NATO-funded operations to deceive Europeans

Description

USA: The Biden regime chose Nina Jankowicz to head up the new 'Ministry of Truth' earlier this year for a reason: She is an expert in spreading disinformation, which also made her the perfect person to spread it.

What's more, she has had extensive experience in spreading lies and misinformation, much of it on the U.S. taxpayer's dime.

An extensive report from Revolver News in May exposing Jankowicz's role in these operations, which have been in place since at least 2015, noted her recent claim that there is no "deep state" was part of her modus operandi — that is, she lies for a living.

"Talking about the deep state and things like that which is a thread among conspiracy communities here in the United States, that there is this secret cabal here in Washington working to undermine the American people couldn't be further from the truth, as someone who works with and around these public servants every day," she claimed in a video clip posted to social media earlier this year.

There is no deep state. Nina says so. pic.twitter.com/WY7h7SKhWW

— Maze (@mazemoore) May 2, 2022

Got that? The disinformation expert who was working on behalf of the deep state says there is no such thing so we should just believe her and move on. After all, she was from 'the government,' and 'the government' wouldn't lie to Americans.

As Revolver News continued:

Revolver News reports:

In fact, Nina does know the truth, and it's the opposite of what she claims above. Nina's name appeared in one of the most explosive and aggressively censored national security leaks of the century. The leak in question exposed the "Integrity Initiative," a dark government-funded NGO that appears to have engaged in political meddling and covert influence operations in Western countries under the guise of fighting “disinformation.”

Founded in mid-2015 under the auspices of the U.K. government-funded NGO “Institute for Statecraft,” the Integrity Initiative boasted a precociously fashionable motto: “Defending Democracy Against Disinformation.”

The report further noted that the initiative claimed it “defended democracy” by recruiting secret “clusters” of national security bureaucrats, academics, think tank members and lobbyists in several countries in the European Union. Those groups would then get to work allegedly addressing nation-specific threats of so-called “Russian disinformation.” The report also noted that the Integrity Initiative got funding from NATO.

“In its organization, funding, operation, structure, and rhetoric the Integrity Initiative is the single best template for understanding how the entire hornets’ nest of NGOs, journalists, and ‘national security’ bureaucrats work secretly and in concert to wage psychological warfare against citizens of the West,” Revolver News noted, explaining the function of the organization.

“One cannot understand how the Disinformation Industry functions without understanding the little-known (and now defunct) Integrity Initiative,” Revolver News continued.

The investigative outlet’s report added that while the initiative has since been disbanded, hackers leaked a massive trove of documents exposing its truly diabolical purpose.

Later, the report said that Jankowicz’s name appeared in a 2018 leak as a member of the “inner core” of the Integrity Initiative’s U.K. Cluster, and specifically in a subgroup that focused on Russia.

Her name appears in the same hacked document alongside that of far-left The Atlantic writer Anne Applebaum, who recently refused to explain why she and other ‘mainstream’ journalists agreed to take part in a coordinated cover-up of the incredibly scandalous information found on Hunter Biden’s laptop that also involved his uncle, James Biden, and his father, now-President Joe Biden.

WATCH The Atlantic’s @anneapplebaum refuse to answer @RealDSchmidt’s?? question about Hunter Biden’s laptop during @UChicago’s “Disinformation and the Erosion of Democracy” conference! pic.twitter.com/1OgXBBiil0

— The Chicago Thinker (@ThinkerChicago) April 6, 2022

After outing Jankowicz and the operation she took part in, Revolver News then made some key points about the initiative.

“First, we note the sinister irony that the NATO-funded Integrity Initiative, whose ostensible purpose is to ‘Defend Democracy Against Disinformation,’ was caught red-handed conducting a secretive influence operation to meddle in the internal politics of Spain, a democratic NATO member,” the site reported.

“Second, we note how crucial — indeed, indispensable — the social media platform Twitter was to the influence operations in question. It is precisely the importance of Twitter as a theater for U.S., U.K., and NATO backed psychological influence operations that informed our analysis of Elon Musk's attempt to purchase the platform," the outlet noted further.

Revolver News said that it's not hyperbole or exaggeration to describe Musk's threat to bring free speech and transparency to Twitter as a "declaration of war" against the global deep state regime. As the initiative's use of the platform reveals, Twitter is used often by U.S.-aligned intelligence agencies to conduct influence operations both within and outside the country because it is literally friendly ground, and that far outweighs its nominal value as a technology company.

Two more points on that front:

— On Wednesday, the regime decided to shelve the phony "Disinformation Governance Board" that it was going to use for domestic influence operations because of the public outcry. Also, Jankowicz resigned, meaning she (and the impetus behind the board she was to lead) are likely going to be retasked elsewhere.

— Musk is aware they are coming for him, though for now, he went through with his bid to buy Twitter and is already making substantial changes. After revealing that some 20 percent (or more) of the accounts on the platform are bot accounts used for disinformation and to drive narratives, he claimed — on Twitter — that the deep state was set to move against him, which he framed as just a political attack.

"In the past, I voted Democrat because they were (mostly) the kindness party. But they have become the party of division & hate, so I can no longer support them and will vote Republican. Now, watch their dirty tricks campaign against me unfold," he tweeted after noting, cryptically, earlier in the day: "Political attacks on me will escalate dramatically in coming months."

by: JD Heyes

Category

1. Crime-Justice-Terrorism-Corruption
2. Main
3. Politics-Geopolitics-Gov.-Events

Date Created

11/03/2022