

BREAKING NEWS: New York Times Denied That The Killed Journalist In Ukraine Was Working For Them! He Was A US Intel Collector!

Description

USA/UKRAINE: The New York Times Journalist reported killed today wasn't working for the NYT when his death.

According to the NYT, he was some sort of US Intel collector.

We have previously reported that an NYT journalist was killed in Kyiv, Ukraine.

Since then, the New York Times has denied that Brent Renaud was forking for them at the time of his death. He was some sort of an Intel collector for the US, reported the Times.

It's sad news, but what's coming from Ukraine as information has to be vetted thoroughly.
