

Buffalo shooter exposed: Not a “right-wing white nationalist” but rather a left-wing activist seeking “justice for Ukraine”

Description

USA: The problem with trying to put people into certain categories immediately following horrific incidents is that rushes to judgment are frequently wrong.

But then, that's what the deep state always does when it is trying to push a false narrative to advance their political and social agendas.

The most recent case in point: The young man accused of being a “right-wing white nationalist” who shot and killed mostly black patrons at a supermarket in Buffalo, N.Y. over the weekend.

The suspect now in custody, Payton Gendron, 18, cannot be put into the category of ‘right wing’ at all, but more in the category of leaning left. That said, he is more of a hybrid individual than anything else; he has elements of both left- and right-leaning ideological beliefs. But again, if one category dominates, it's the left.

“The published manifesto shows support for the same symbols used by the Nazi Azov Battalion in Ukraine. The shooter also expressed hatred for Americans opposed to US military involvement in the Ukraine conflict in his manifesto,” Newspunch reported following the exposure of the document. “In other words, Payton Gendron supports the far-left globalist agenda in Ukraine and sympathizes with the neo-Nazi groups Russia is trying to fight.”

In addition, as some have pointed out online, the shooter hates Fox News, which doesn't at all establish him as some ‘right-wing ideologue.’

Conservative commentator Mike Cernovich added, “The manifesto of the terrorist who killed people today contains the following: – He did a chart of Jewish people and included me under ‘troll Jew.’ – Rejection of Christianity. – An admission that he is ... ‘authoritarian left wing.’ – Hybrid Nazi and ‘green nationalism.’”

The manifesto of the terrorist who killed people today contains the following:

- He did a chart of Jewish people and included me under “troll Jew.”
- Rejection of Christianity.
- An admission that he is is “authoritarian left wing.”
- Hybrid Nazi and “green nationalism.”

Now, there is no question that he picked his target — a business frequented mostly by blacks in a mostly-black neighborhood, which, on the surface, makes him appear to be a massive white nationalist bigot. But digging further into his manifesto, he is far from being that easily defined.

“When I was 12 I was deep into communist ideology, talk to anyone from my old high school and ask about me and you will hear that. From age 15 to 18 however, I consistently moved farther to the right. On the political compass I fall in the mildmoderate authoritarian left category, and I would prefer to be called a populist,” he wrote in his manifest when discussing his political views.

As for those he supports, he noted: “I support many of those that take a stand against ethnic and cultural genocide. Brenton Tarrant, Patrick Crusius, John Earnest, Robert Bowers, Phillip Manshaus, Luca Traini, Anders Breivik, Dylann Roof, Anton Lundin Pettersson, Darren Osbourne etc. I have never had any connections with other confirmed partisans though.”

When discussing whether he’ll live to see prison: “Yes, I do wish to see how the world plays out after all. If I become old in the same prison. I would only assume that we have passed the point of no return and will die out, and that I have failed. If we do rise up against the replacers, I expect that I will be let out and honored amongst my people.”

So clearly, there are racist elements here, but if he were serious about “the replacers,” wouldn’t he have attacked a different minority group, since blacks are not coming to the country in the same numbers as Hispanics?

Either way, he is evil and frankly, he should not live long enough to die in prison. He should die bylethal injection before he turns 20.
