

Can you name >5 unvaxxed Amish who died from COVID? Why not? They are “supposed to be” dying in droves!

Description

JBell @reecebell2008 · 4h

I live In an Amish town in Pennsylvania.
No vaccines. No masks. No deaths from covid.

12 244 698 205.9K

People who live in Amish communities: No vaccines, No masks. No deaths. Nobody could name 5 Amish who died from COVID in Lancaster, PA which is the largest Amish community in the US. Whoops! I offered $2,500 and all I got was excuses on why they couldn't give me a single name of anyone who died.

The traditional Amish do not vaccinate. And they are a tight knit community. So they are the perfect placebo cohort. We just compare the rate of death of the unvaccinated Amish with the rate of death of people in the same area.

I recently learned that it's likely that in the >50,000 person unvaccinated Amish community in Lancaster, PA there are less than a handful of people who died from COVID. Lancaster is the largest Amish community in the US.

Wow.

If nobody in the world can name more than 5 Amish unvaxxed people who died in Lancaster, PA, it means the entire pandemic response (lockdowns, business closures, school closures, church closures, testing, masking, social distancing, mandates, not testing people for immunity before vaccination, and vaccination) was completely unnecessary and counterproductive. Whoops!

So my “Can you name >5?” challenge posted to Twitter is an objective test that should be trivial to win if the medical journal papers are right about there being a pandemic of the unvaccinated.

So far, nobody could name >5 unvaxxed Amish people in Lancaster, PA who died from COVID. In fact, they can’t name anyone. Zero.

People just came up with excuses, referenced vaccinated Amish who died, thought a Mennonite is the same thing as an Amish person, etc. The list of excuses was endless. The number of qualifying names? Zero.

If you want objective proof that our society was destroyed for nothing, my Amish bet is your proof.

The Amish did nothing and their death toll was 30X lower than ours. They operated as if nothing happened.

Will we learn from them? Not a chance.

The CDC will never do a study on the Amish; it would be too embarrassing for them. It would show the world that the CDC everything they demanded of us was both harmful and unnecessary; it made things worse. And the stuff the CDC said to not do? Well, that’s what the Amish did. You know; like that horse paste.

Instead of handing over control in the next pandemic to the WHO, we’d actually be better off putting the Amish in charge.

The bottom line is this. They can throw all the technical papers in the world at you explaining how the Amish are dying in droves, but if they can't actually come up with the names of >5 unvaccinated Amish people who died from COVID in Lancaster, PA since the start of the pandemic, you should tell them where they can stick their "scientific studies" and their stupid COVID mitigation policies.

This will give the needed background. It's a short 5 minute video featuring Sharyl Attkisson.

Nobody in mainstream media will touch this story because it completely blows up the narrative. It shows that all the COVID interventions were completely unnecessary! The Amish returned to normal in May 2020. Read that again.

The Amish achieved herd immunity before the vaccines were even available.

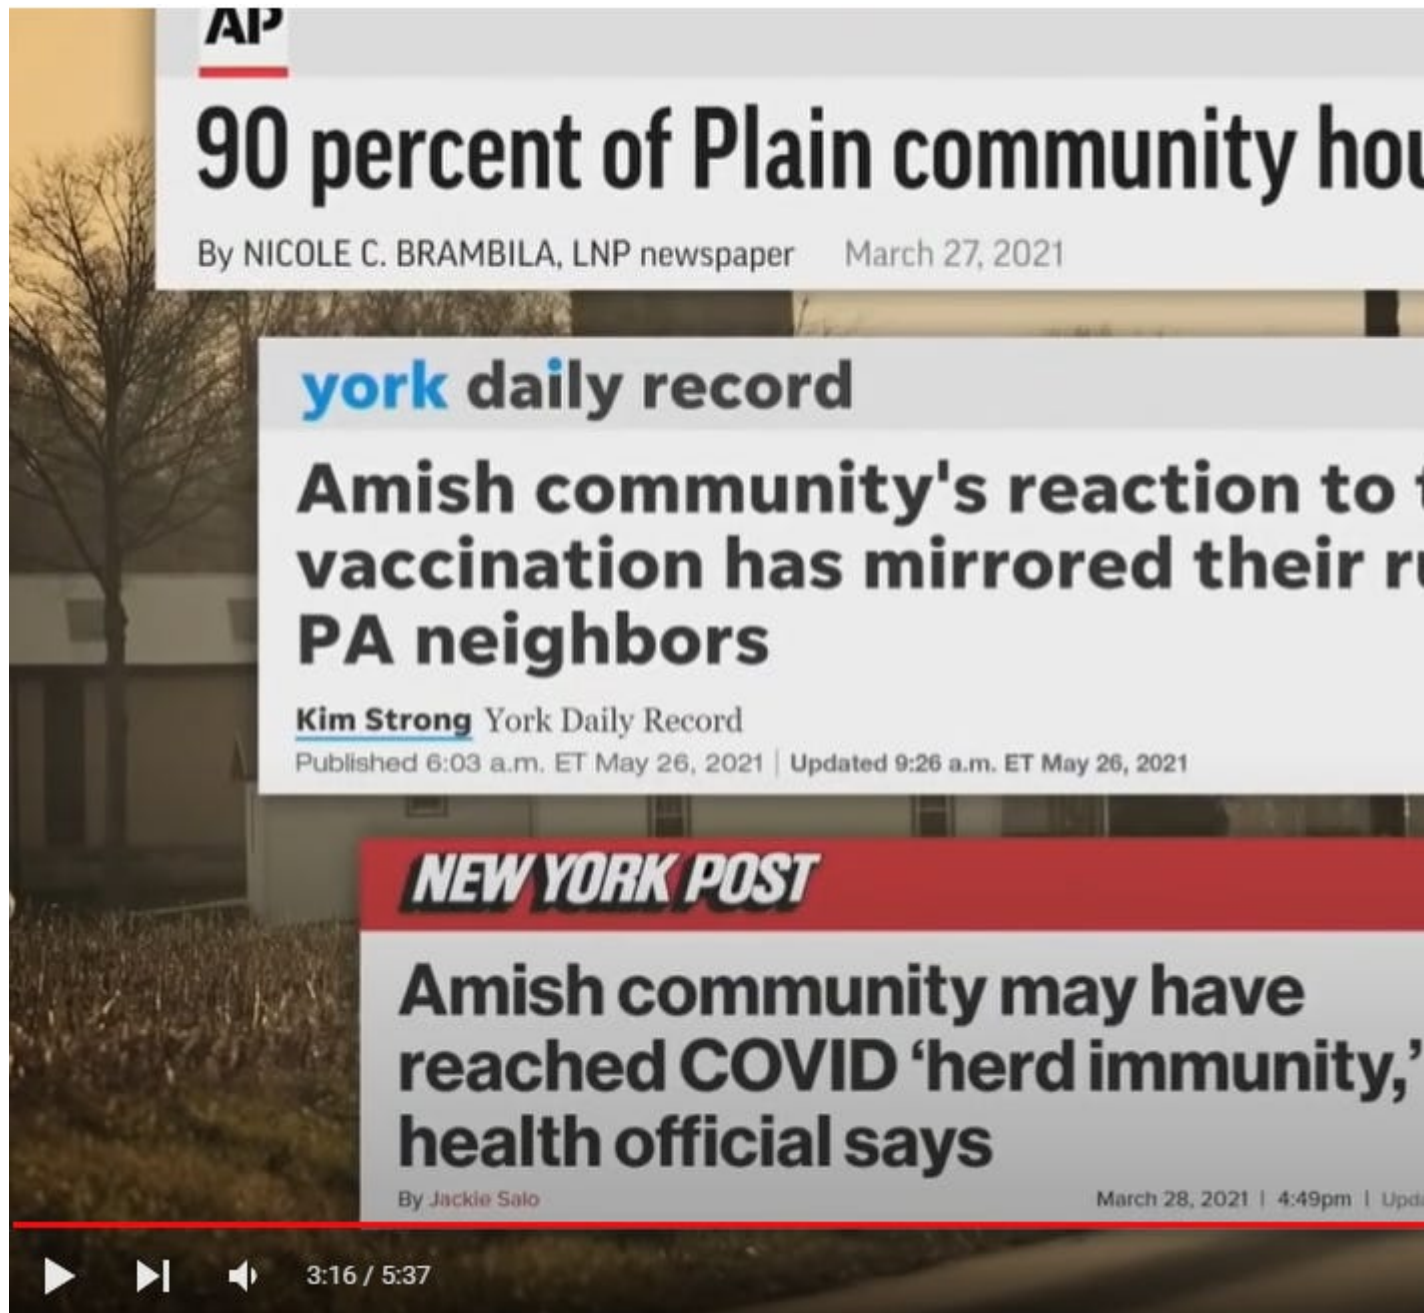

They also have zero autism (except if the person is adopted) for the people who eschew vaccination.

Even if the vaccine worked and was safe, there was simply no reason for them to take the vaccine because 90% had already been infected in 2020. Taking a vaccine after you've already got natural immunity is nonsensical and counterproductive. However, in the US, we were told to get the vaccine even if we recovered from COVID. Very dumb.

How did they achieve herd immunity so fast? They did the opposite of what the CDC recommended; they lived their lives normally and used drugs like ivermectin if they got sick.

Today, more than 3 years later, you still can't find more than a handful who died from COVID.

To drive that point home with people, I am making a $2,500 offer to the first person who can find more than a handful of unvaxxed Amish who died from COVID in Lancaster, PA during the entire pandemic.

Lancaster has 500,000 and 50,000 unvaxxed Amish. As far as I know, no more than 5 died from symptoms consistent with COVID and that number may be high. The actual number may be 0 for all I know; the two names I have are suspected COVID.

When I first heard about the Amish community in Lancaster, I immediately thought that I could simply search the national death index and compare the rise in deaths in 2021 vs. 2020 in Lancaster vs. surrounding counties and I'd know instantly whether the Amish had a lower or higher death rate! Unfortunately, the unvaxxed Amish are only 10% of the Lancaster county population and they don't break down deaths by the full FIPS code; if they did, we could do the analysis in a heartbeat by comparing Salisbury with Ephrata all-cause mortality. I was soooo close!

In downloading the 2.7GB death data for 2021, I did discover that they blank out the county (and many other fields). This is their idea of "data transparency."

It's as if they don't want you ever to learn the truth. Can you imagine that?! One thing I've learned is if they have to keep the data hidden, there's a reason.

So you can't compare the death rates in Lancaster, PA vs. surrounding counties due to too much noise. Darn. I was soooooooooo close.

But when I heard that there were less than 5 COVID deaths in 50,000 people over the entire pandemic, I knew I had a winner.

A simple objective test that nobody can meet that proves all the stuff we were told to do actually made things about 30X worse.

There were at least two fully unvaccinated Amish people who died of COVID in Lancaster, PA. But as far as I know, there aren't more than 5. So this contest is theoretically winnable (since nobody has perfect knowledge). There is no trick. Any reasonable evidence is acceptable (e.g., their Amish neighbors vouch that they were unvaxxed). If the threshold was 2 deaths, I'd win it myself. But I couldn't find more than 5 fully unvaccinated Amish who met the contest criteria below:

Steve Kirsch ✓
@stkirsch

...

It's very simple to prove that the US response to COVID was completely inept. There are >50,000 unvaccinated Amish in Lancaster, PA. I will pay $2,500 to the first person who can prove there were more than 5 of them who died from COVID from 2020 to the present. You have to post individual names and evidence they died from COVID and were fully unvaccinated.

This is not a trick contest. There were a few fully unvaccinated (no vaccines of any type) Amish who died from COVID. But I was not able to find more than 5.

This paper found 3 COVID deaths of Amish in the entire US (see plainanabaptistjournal.org/index.php/JPAC).

brief illness" and another 9% indicated a "lengthy illness" as cause of death. It should be noted that COVID was only mentioned three times in the obituaries section of the Diary for Amish deaths from 2014 through 2021. The report of one death in Ohio in October 2020 stated that the person had COVID and pneumonia. One death in December 2020 in Kentucky and another in November 2020 in Indiana listed COVID as the cause of death.

12:40 PM · May 22, 2023 · 147.3K Views

View Tweet analytics

Promote

597 Retweets 22 Quotes 1,885 Likes 97 Bookmarks

listed as a "brief illness" and another 9% indicated a "lengthy illness" as cause of death.

It should be noted that COVID was only mentioned three times in the obituaries section of the Diary for Amish deaths from 2014 through 2021. The report of one death in Ohio in October 2020 stated that the person had COVID and pneumonia. One death in December 2020 in Kentucky and another in November 2020 in Indiana listed COVID as the cause of death.

This paper couldn't find any Amish COVID deaths in Lancaster, PA.

The contest ends May 30, 2023 and I will reveal the two names I know just to prove it was possible to win if there were more deaths.

I got everything except names. Nobody came up with a single name. You can read the entire Twitter thread here. They pointed me to various junk science papers claiming the unvaxxed were more likely to die from COVID, the Amish were dying in droves, etc. If any of those papers were true, they'd be able to easily win my contest. One person pointed me to a single Mennonite woman who died and claimed I should pay up. You can read the responses and you'll shake your head.

Some said they can't give the names of people who died because that would be a HIPAA violation. Interesting! Have you ever seen an obit in the newspaper where the name was redacted for medical privacy reasons? HIPAA only applies if the person is a patient of theirs and the patient gave them medical info as part of the medical practice. As far as I know, none of these people claimed to be treating the Amish.

This is all bullshit. All they have to do is pick up the phone and talk to their Amish friends and say, "Hey, do you know anyone who was unvaxxed and died from COVID?"

I did that, but I just got 2 names.

The whole thing was to distract from the fact that they can't come up with >5 names because no more than 5 Amish people died from COVID. That's inescapable.

This is the winner. It got 50% more views than my main tweet!

JBell @reecebell2008 · 4h
I live In an Amish town in Pennsylvania.
No vaccines. No masks. No deaths from covid.

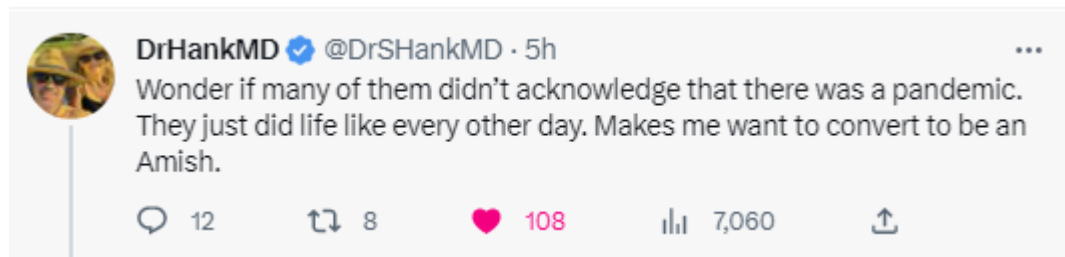

12 244 698 205.9K

Here are some others:

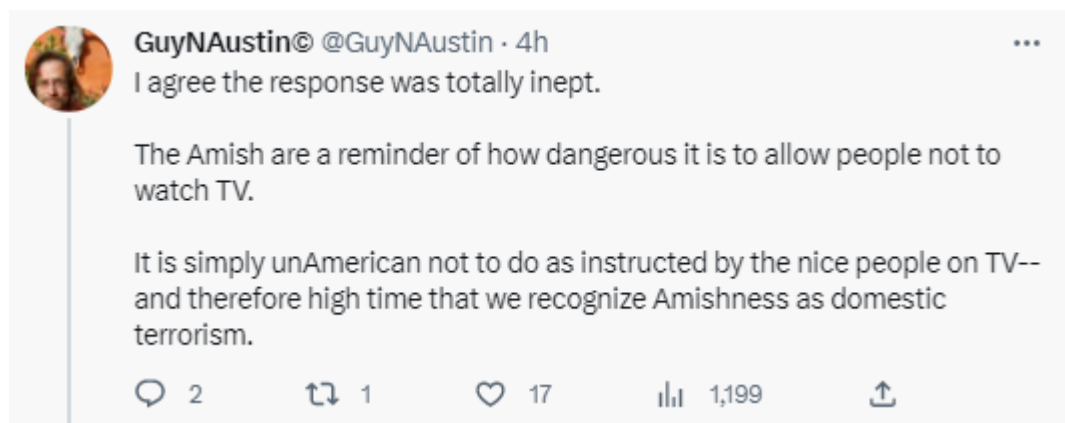

Andrea Shaffer, Employment/Labor L... @Andreafreedom... · 5h
Many of the Amish took in the non Amish locals that were refused medical care from our established medical doctors. The Amish used the forbidden elixir and saved many lives.

3 8 122 5,674

Their next move is to pass a law ordering DHS to forcibly vaccinate all Amish with 70+ vaccines in one sitting to keep America safe: "it's for the greater good."

This next comment is a bit tongue-in-cheek:

Check back in a day to see what Andrew's friends told him:

Andrew S
@Andyldn

One second I'll just message a few of my Amish mates. 😊 You truly are the king of logic fallacies.

3:03 PM · May 22, 2023 · 615 Views

2 Likes

Tweet your reply!

Reply

Steve Kirsch ✓ @stkirsch · Now
Can't wait!

GardenInSunshine @GardenInSunshi1 · 6h

In the Amish area in northern Indiana the Amish had signs posted that said "Jesus >Covid"

1

874

Tag Writes Tag's Substack 8 min ago

Sorry Steve. You won't find any. They didn't get the propaganda lies. They just went on with their lives. I'm in Ohio and close to several Amish communities and if I ever have to "bug out" I know where I will go. to people with skills, smarts, brains and common sense. OMG! What about my laptop and smartphone? Nearest dump works for me! :)

♡ LIKE (1) 💬 REPLY ...

polistra 10 min ago · edited 4 min ago

The Amish ALSO don't use other modern shit, especially cellphones. So they were not receiving the panic and fear messages, and not receiving more direct electromagnetic influences via cellphone.

It might be worth trying a separate experiment on the single variable of cellphones. Did any non-phoners get the "symptoms"? I'm a non-phoner and I never got the "symptoms".

Another worthwhile variable is straightforward iatrogenic. One thing for sure is that "medicalized" people who spend a lot of time in clinics and hospitals got more sick from this "virus". I've always suspected that the "virus" deaths are relabeled medical error deaths.

♡ LIKE (1) 💬 REPLY ...

Readers added context they thought people might want to know

The Amish communities suffered from excess deaths due to COVID.

While closed religious communities often resist epidemiological surveillance, the excess death rate for Amish/Mennonites had spiked to a 125% increase in November 2020.

ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/P...

Do you find this helpful?

Rate it

OK, so if there are so many excess deaths, then how come nobody knows more than a few people in the unvaxxed Amish community who died from COVID?

That's what I want to know!

The Amish achieved herd immunity in March 2021. So if there is a paper claiming there were excess deaths in March 2021 and beyond, we can now cite that as evidence that the vaccines don't work. The reason is simple: the Amish are the "best case" possible: they were FULLY "vaccinated" in 2020. So if people claim they had excess deaths in 2021, it means that the vaccines (which must be worse than natural immunity) will have even worse outcomes.

If you like activities like this one and want to see more like this, please consider becoming a paid subscriber

It helps to support my work and the work of others. Thanks!

This is a very simple objective test that everyone in the world can instantly understand: just name >5 fully unvaxxed Amish people who died from COVID in Lancaster, PA during the pandemic.

It can't be hard. After all, the medical literature proved that they have to be dying in droves, with bodies stacked up on the side of the road and large waiting lines at the morgue.

If I win, it shows I was right all along and the medical community was wrong. And it also shows that thousands of papers published in the peer-reviewed literature supporting the COVID interventions were all wrong as well.

I'm pretty sure my money is safe and the whole thing was for nothing.

Try this with your blue-pilled friends... make it a bet.... a way for them to make money and prove you wrong.

Even if I lose and there are 6 Amish deaths, the Amish, who didn't vaccinate, had a 30X lower death count than we obtained after turning the country upside down.

This contest proves an important point: all these measures were completely unnecessary, we destroyed our businesses and economy for nothing, we set our kids education back years for no benefit, the medical community is inept, the CDC and FDA and NIH are inept, and we should not trust Biden or members of Congress who went along with the whole thing while people were shouting stop. With rare exceptions (such as Senator Ron Johnson and Congressman Bill Posey and a few others), none of them are interested in listening to the possibility that they might be wrong.

This all happened because voices of reason were silenced. Free speech, debate, etc. was tossed out the window. Any doctor who stood against the "consensus" was crushed into oblivion.

The leaders of America need to stop listening to the people they trusted, and start listening to the people they labeled "misinformation spreaders." They got it completely backwards.

You should never trust the CDC, mainstream media, or members of Congress again until they admit their mistakes, vow never to support censorship again, and always listen to people on both sides of an issue before making a decision.

by Steve Kirsch

Category

1. Crime-Justice-Terrorism-Corruption
2. Disasters-Crisis-Depopulation-Genocide
3. Health-Wellness-Healing-Nutrition & Fitness
4. Main
5. NWO-Deep State-Dictatorship-Tyranny

Date Created

05/29/2023