

Exporting American Democracy Means Forcing LGBT Rights

Description

NATO's backing of Ukraine is largely centered around promoting homosexuality and transgenderism in Eastern Europe.

Washington Post columnist Jim Geraghty tweeted it's "dumb" to oppose funding the war in Ukraine because President Zelenskyy is a "homosexual weirdo" as alleged by Second Amendment aficionado Ted Nugent. His tweet is part of a running commentary about his own article lamenting recent polling that shows more and more Americans are waking up to the debauchery of American culture and blaming the LGBTQ enclave for the sudden rise in immoral depravity leading to the destruction of traditional families.

Again, I'm not saying you have to support U.S. aid to Ukraine. But opposing U.S. aid to Ukraine because Zelensky is a "homosexual weirdo," as Ted Nugent contended at a Trump rally, is just dumb. <https://t.co/KsbHV7m06I>

Zelenskyy has been criticized for past videos where he is seen wearing high heels and a BDSM homoerotic leather ensemble.

Apparently, Geraghty doesn't want Americans to realize advancing LGBTQ rights is a major reason the United States and NATO support the war in Ukraine. If Americans were to come to the conclusion that exporting democracy means forcing Eastern European countries to embrace gay marriage and the chemical castration of children, then there might be a mass deletion of Ukrainian flag profile pictures on social media. In fact, there is plenty of evidence the war in Ukraine and the 2014 Victoria Nuland-backed coup are all about gay rights and that the coup came in response to Vladimir Putin's prohibition of LGBT propaganda in 2013.

After NATO provoked the Russian invasion of Ukraine, Richard Moore, the head of MI6 tweeted "With the tragedy and destruction unfolding so distressingly in Ukraine, we should remember the values and hard-won freedoms that distinguish us from Putin, none more than LGBT+ rights. So let's resume our series of tweets to mark #LGBTHM2022"

This should come as no surprise since MI6 has been known to fly the transgender flag above its headquarters.

Moore also has his personal pronouns listed on his Twitter bio to make sure everyone knows he is a supporter of rainbow ideology.

In fact, on the morning of the Russian invasion of Ukraine, the British Ministry of Defense was virtue signaling on Twitter about “LGBT History Month”.

Additionally, pro-war publications have seeded the narrative on LGBT rights in Ukraine for years. In 2015, Foreign Policy wrote, “LGBT Gains in Ukraine Are in Danger”. In June of 2019 Brookings reported on NATO and Pride parades by asking the question “What does a Pride parade have to do with NATO? More than you might think”. The article goes on to claim the Kremlin is exploiting anti-homosexual sentiment harbored by average Ukrainians for geopolitical gain. Al Jazeera’s reporting on the Ukraine war made sure to inform their readers of anti-LGBT sentiment in Russia. In 2022 they wrote, “As the Ukraine war rages. Russia doubles down on anti-LGBT laws”.

At its inception, NATO’s goal was to protect Christian Europe from the godless communists of the Soviet Union. In a stark role reversal, the United States and NATO are funding anti-Christian Zelenskyy as he persecutes Christian orthodox Churches inside Ukraine. If the majority of American Christians ever equate the support of Ukraine with advancing the LGBTQ agenda currently besieging American culture from all directions, then support for the Ukraine war could plummet.

This reporter guest hosted the Stew Peters Show back in February and addressed concerns that the war in Ukraine is primarily about gay rights.
