Headlines – 2021 Monkeypox Simulation: 3.2 Billion "Cases," 271 Million Deaths, May 2022- Dec. 2023

Description

A "tabletop" monkey pox WHO "simulation" which took place in March 2021 had a very exact timeline. (See page 10.)
The first monkeypox case would be detected May 15, 2022 (in reality it was May 7, 2022) and their timeline stretches to December 1, 2023.
According to the simulation, on that date there would have been 3.2 billion cases of monkeypox, and 271 million deaths from monkeypox.

This simulation was conducted by Nuclear Threat Initiative, a nonprofit global security organization headquartered in Washington D.C.

All of the participants in this simulation are listed on page 9, and includes people from such organizations as the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and the WHO.
