Farewell to Loreta, the Oss who wanted to return to “her” Gargano

Loreta didn't do it: she died suddenly, leaving orphans and children alone and her husband a nurse.

She was 52 years old and originally from San Giovanni Rotondo, although she worked as a Social Health Operator in Emilia Romagna. She had a dream, to return to live in her beloved Gargano. She now she will rest forever. By the will of her and her loved ones, her organs were explanted and donated to those in need. Her life now continues in the bodies of those who were ill and who with her sacrifice today has returned to hope.

No cause of death reported.

Donna di Ariano Irpino dies at 39, an investigation opened: the autopsy on Monday

She was 39 years old and an investigation has been opened on her death, currently against unknown persons. The drama in Ariano Irpino, where the woman lost her life Wednesday evening – according to an initial reconstruction – while she was in her home.

She would have been seized by an illness for which the 118 intervention had been requested.

However, any help proved useless, the 39-year-old's heart stopped forever, throwing her family members into despair, some of whom live in Benevento, and how many loved her.

A case at the center of an investigation by the carabinieri directed by the deputy prosecutor Giulio Barbato, who on Monday will entrust the coroner Emilo D'Oro with the task of carrying out the autopsy. An examination for which the relatives of the victim have been 'advised' to allow the appointment of their own consultant and, assisted by the lawyer Roberto Pulcino, will indicate the coroner Monica Fonzo as their specialist.

Fatal illness, the Cagliari lawyer Massimo Madau dies at 54: "He did so much for Samatzai"

He left yesterday in a bed in the Brotzu hospital, where he had been hospitalized after an illness that hit him a few days ago and which, unfortunately, quickly got worse. Massimo Madau, 54, one of the best known lawyers in Cagliari, is gone.

In the last period he was not well, but those who know him explain that his death was almost like a bolt from the blue.

Mayor Enrico Cocco is destroyed by grief: "It seems to have been a sudden worsening, I had heard from him two weeks ago and he hadn't mentioned any health problems, he was already organizing a demonstration in his home, linked to the enhancement of our territory, which is one of the Raw Earth Cities. He did a lot for our community, he was still young and he leaves us an immense emptiness. I had known Massimo since we were little. Our houses were almost close together, we played together and became, over time, great friends. Today we mourn the sudden death of a splendid person".

No cause of death reported.

Tragedy on the island of Capraia, he dies of an illness in the street

Capraia Island (Livorno) – Tragedy in the late Saturday afternoon on the Island of Capraia. A 70-year-old man died of an illness near the village church. It is a tourist who was spending a relaxing Saturday on the island, where visitors begin to flock in this spring-summer 2022. The man suddenly felt ill and fell to the ground.

Immediate intervention of the rescuers of the fixed post of the Public Assistance Service located in the village.

However, any resuscitation maneuver was in vain. The man died where he fell ill. Given the gravity of the situation, the Pegasus helicopter was also alerted, but it reversed its course as the island's staff found the death.

A 55-year-old who died after a third dose of vaccine, the consultants: “No correlation with death”

Leverano (Lecce) – No correlation between the third dose of vaccine and death. These are the conclusions put in black and white in the final part of the consultation by forensic doctors Francesco Introna and Francesco Bruno delagti by the prosecutor of Bari, Angela Maria Morea, to verify a link between the death of a 55-year-old from Leverano and the administration of the anti serum Covid. More: according to the consultants, the woman suffered from a previous liver cirrhosis. A surprising outcome in some ways if you think that the Salento woman was in excellent health and never, ever she would have accused problems of this nature.

After the third dose of the vaccine, however, her condition worsened rapidly and in a few days she ended up in the intensive care unit of the Bari Polyclinic from where she has never left. It was her family (her husband and her two children) who filed a complaint assisted by the lawyer Donato Mellone and wrote down the last days of the woman’s life. With a double dose of vaccine (Pfizer), on 20 December the woman presented herself at the vaccination hub in Nardò to undergo the third administration (this Moderna case). Received the serum, the woman faints and is resuscitated on the spot. They give her water; she takes her blood pressure and she goes home accompanied by her husband. In the days immediately following the situation seems to be returning.

The woman, caught in a bereavement in the family, does not seem to feel the backlash. She goes out of her way to organize the funeral; she lends a hand to her relatives until – we are in early January – her children do not notice her yellow eyes. Accompanied by the attending physician and then by a specialist, she is immediately admitted to the gastroenterology department of Vito Fazzi where she is subjected to a cortisone-based therapy which, however, does not produce the desired effects. Her conditions worsen and the woman is urgently transferred to the Policlinico di Bari and hospitalized there in intensive care where she died on January 26 last. For the consultants, however, the administration of the vaccine was in no way related to her death. At this point the family members will try to find “justice” through civilian ways.

A rare hint of journalistic skepticism toward the doctors’ (typical) denial that a sudden death may have been caused by “vaccination.”

Ferrara collapses due to an illness in his car wash: he dies at the age of 64

On Sunday he had stopped in his car wash along the state road in San Carlo di Sant’Agostino, Ferrara, to solve a technical problem, apparently due to a malfunction of the plant. And after he started putting his hands on the electrical panel he was seen slumping to the ground. At first it was thought that he was electrocuted, crossed by an electric discharge, seen where he was fumbling and the presence of water on the asphalt. But the subsequent investigations instead made it possible to ascertain that the entrepreneur had been struck by a heart attack. No accidents at work then, simply a cursed and sudden illness that gave him no chance of survival. The victim was called Roberto Guerzoni, 64, lived with his wife in Corporeno (Ferrara), and had two children.

He does not show up for an appointment with friends: Marco found dead at home at the age of 29

Porto Sant’Elpidio – Marco Tempesta, 29, from Puglia, recently settled in Porto Sant’Elpidio yesterday morning was found dead in his home in via Pergolesi. It was a sudden death for him, apparently inexplicable and for this reason it opens up a series of questions.

The death of a healthy boy, without apparent frailty, has led the judiciary to open a file even if it must be specified that it is not a violent death. The young man was found unconscious, with no signs of violence on his body.

Castellanza, who has been dead at home for a month

When the carabinieri of the Castellanza station opened the door of the house, they found the sixty-year-old lying on the floor and lifeless. Probably dead for a month, but no one had noticed his absence. The scene that presented itself to the rescue workers left no doubts about the fact that the sixty-year-old had a sudden illness and that, alone and without a telephone at hand, he had not even been able to call for help.

The carabinieri called social services and took steps to inform relatives. It was not necessary to perform an autopsy on the man's body also because death from natural causes was evident.

Shocked by the neighbors who, in fact, thought that the man had moved away from home, being a solitary and reserved person not very accustomed to confidences.

Bressanone, the body of a man found in an apartment: he had been dead for over a month

Wolfgang Alber, 50, from Bressanone, in the province of Bolzano, was found dead two days ago in his apartment. Although he lived in an apartment building and had several neighbors, his lifeless body was found more than a month after his death.

The alarm was raised only on Sunday when a neighbor, who for days had not been able to get in touch with the 50-year-old, decided to request the intervention of the Fire Brigade. The man had become suspicious because for some days he had smelled a strong smell coming from Alber's apartment and because the latter did not answer either the telephone or the intercom.

Hence the decision to raise the alarm: the volunteer firefighters of Varna went to the place, together with the local police and the carabinieri. When the door to the apartment the dramatic discovery was made; investigations into what happened were immediately launched and according to the latest information it would be a natural death.

Man found dead on the beach in Porto Sant’Elpidio: he is a 36-year-old Pole

Tragedy in Porto Sant’Elpidio, in the province of Fermo, where on the morning of Thursday 12 May 2022 a man was found dead on the beach. Subsequent investigations found that he was a 36-year-old of Polish descent.

To carry out the dramatic discovery were some passers-by who, around 6:30, noticed a corpse lying on the shore, with his head partially covered with sand and gravel and wearing only a pair of shorts and a cap.

Immediate alarm to the 118 health workers who, having arrived on the spot, could not help but ascertain the death of the man (probably dating back to the night before). The police officers, also at the place of the discovery with the coroner and the Port Authority, immediately started the investigations to shed light on the incident.

Thanks to the documents found in his van parked nearby, it was possible to trace the identity of the victim and understand that he was a 36-year-old man of Polish origin.

Perhaps he was in the area for work, since his vehicle was loaded with goods. As for the cause of death, it is most likely to be identified in a sudden illness. The hypothesis is that he wanted to indulge in a refreshing bath or a few minutes on the beach when the imponderable happened.

In fact, from the beginning, the track of a violent death was excluded due to the absence of details that made it hypothesize. Although the cadaveric inspection confirmed the thesis of illness, the judiciary also ordered an autopsy.
