

Malone: Physicians Are Being ‘Hunted’ For Criticizing Vaccines

Description

USA: Malone is one of many doctors who have been completely persecuted merely for discussing issues relating to COVID treatments and vaccine side-effects.

He has faced fierce opposition for his assertion that children shouldn't be given COVID-19 vaccines and has also consistently highlighted concerns over links to myocarditis risk.

for instance, have you noticed that that big study that clearly demonstrated the dysmenorhea has been completely overlooked in the legacy media. This is not a coincidence. <https://t.co/jjVXArjPh>

Those concerns are now being justified by Finland, Denmark and Sweden halting the Moderna jab for for younger males after reports of cardiovascular side effects.

Despite such concerns being regularly voiced by doctors, the Federation of State Medical Boards announced back in July that it would consider pulling medical licenses of doctors who traffic in “misinformation” about COVID.

In another stunning development, Malone's IP address was blocked by the New England Journal of Medicine so he couldn't read studies on their website.

The doctor said he was aware of how to get around the IP block, but called the move a “petty act.”

This is fascinating.
I am apparently no longer allowed to read the New England Journal of Medicine.
