

Obama Foundation Held (and May Still Be Holding) Classified Documents in an Unsecured Furniture Warehouse but FBI Doesn't Care

Description

USA: A letter has been uncovered that shows that Barack Obama maintained classified records in an unsecured storage facility in a furniture warehouse. Yet, the FBI never raided the warehouse?

The FBI raided President Trump's home in Mar-a-Lago in August. This corrupt gang under Biden AG Merrick Garland claimed they were after classified documents. It was also reported that the FBI was after nuclear-related documents but that was a lie. Biden's White House claimed they didn't know about it. This was also a lie.

Never in US history had a President's home been raided by the FBI.

It was clear that the FBI wanted documents housed by President Trump. The most likely reason to date is that the FBI didn't want any of the documents released to the public that showed that the corrupt FBI and DOJ leftovers from the Obama regime were involved in a coup of the Trump Presidency.

The documents at President Trump's home were maintained under lock and key as recommended by the FBI. But the FBI still raided the President's home to steal these documents.

Now we find out that former President Obama still maintains classified documents from his administration at a former Sears warehouse.

Conservative Treehouse reported:

"Hoffman Estates" is a previously abandoned Chicago area Sears furniture warehouse. The Obama Foundation leased, then re-upped the lease, to use the facility to store all the paper documents from the Obama administration {Location Link}.

The Obama administration told the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) they were going to upload the documents into a digital form for use in the Obama library. The paper documents were, still are, held at the Hoffman Estates warehouse while this digitization process took place. It should be noted, the Obama Foundation has never digitized the records, hence they renewed the warehouse lease.

Contrast against the DOJ-NSD legal position about classified records held in the secure facility of Mar-a-Lago, a 2018 letter {Obama.org pdf here} from the Obama Foundation to the NARA is an example of the two-tiered selective justice system. Within the 2018 letter the Obama team admit to storing both “classified and unclassified” documents at the warehouse: [Page #2, bullet-point 7]

5. The complete terms and conditions of the digitization project, along with the terms on which NARA will make the resulting digital files and corresponding metadata available to the Foundation, will be the subject of a separate agreement.
6. The Obama Foundation and NARA agree to work collaboratively and in good faith to explore, develop, and implement strategies to facilitate broad public access to unclassified born-digital materials in as timely a manner as possible.
7. The Obama Foundation agrees to transfer up to three million three hundred thousand dollars ($3,300,000) to the National Archives Trust Fund (NATF) to support the move of classified and unclassified Obama Presidential records and artifacts from Hoffman Estates to NARA-controlled facilities that conform to the agency's archival storage standards for such records and artifacts, and for the modification of such spaces. The first transfer of $300,000 was already made on August 9, 2018. An additional interim transfer will be made within 180 days of that date. Subsequent payments are subject to the negotiation of terms of the digitization process and museum operations.
8. NARA agrees to loan Obama Presidential records and artifacts and other NARA holdings, including but not limited to textual records, physical artifacts, and audio-visual materials such as archival footage, sound recordings, and high resolution digital assets, to the Obama Foundation on an ongoing basis for exhibition at the Obama Presidential Center in Chicago, Illinois, and to work with the Foundation in doing so. NARA and the Foundation will set forth the terms by which NARA will loan Obama Presidential physical records and artifacts to the Obama Foundation for display at the OPC in a separate agreement, which will adhere to NARA policies and museum industry standards and best practices. The Parties agree to work together in good faith to ensure that NARA policies and procedures are applied to the Foundation's exhibitions program in a way that reduces uncertainty for the Foundation.

The FBI never raided the old Sears warehouse to obtain the classified documents there. They left the multiple corrupt activities of the Obama regime alone.

This is the FBI today.
