

SECRET GENDER TRANSITION CLOSET! Children Can Trans Without Their Parents' Knowledge!

Description

Can you imagine this?

I can't understand this, not even in my wildest dreams. The leftists call themselves teachers and create secret zones at school so the children can undress and change into trans outfits!!!

This is what happens in America. We are in 2022, and the Biden regime allows this, where parents are called terrorists, and the children secretly are allowed to become trans.

There have been safe spaces for gender transition, and that happened initially in colleges, and now that happens in the middle and high schools across the country.

These closets are used for a much more nefarious agenda- hiding the trans behavior and indoctrination from parents. The children can wear whatever they want from the closet while they are at school, and later before going home, they will put on the clothes they arrived in.

The Epoch Times shared different examples of these secret gender transition closets. " Thomas Martin-Edwards, a transgender California teacher and founder of the "Queer Teacher Fellowship," explains the true goal of these secret areas in a recent TikTok video."

The Epoch Times reported:

"The goal of the transition closet is for our students to wear the clothes that their parents approve of, come to school and then swap out into the clothes that fit who they truly are," the teacher said.

The California Family Council and others eventually confirmed the identity of the teacher as Oakland Unified School District Spanish teacher Thomas Martin-Edwards, who is also the founder of "Queer Teacher Fellowship."

Martin-Edwards, the teacher who runs the trans closet, is also transgender. He has posted videos of himself in the classroom showing off the stilettos he wears to school."

'This is grooming,' Tweeted one Colorado man, 'Police should come to the classroom and arrest whoever the teacher is in this classroom.'

The original post about the Denver trans closet was made by 'Buy Nothing Central Park' and refers to the closet for transgender students as being started at "our school." It also asks for clothing for the trans closet being dropped off at the school.

Megan Fox, a freelance columnist for PJ Media and co-host of the weekly YouTube show "Exposing Family Court Corruption," recently raised $1,650 through gofundme.com to pay for documents relating to the trans closet at a Colorado school.

Fox recently wrote in her column that the school told her she had to pay $1,650 to obtain the documents, which she requested via the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). According to Fox, the school said the bill was based on 55 hours of staff time at $30 an hour to fulfill her request."

Like the other movements on the left, the increase in these closets is far from an organic occurrence.

From The Transition Closet's FB post:

We are extremely excited to begin our journey in working with Fremont High School of Oakland, California, along with our favorite teacher of TikTok/@justaqueerteacher."

The founder of the group, Amare Roush, doubled down on the goal to keep the spaces hidden from the parents.

Otherwise, people will get upset.

The Epoch Times has more.

"Amare Roush, founder of The Transition Closet, told The Epoch Times that her organization does support keeping the existence of trans closets at schools secret from parents, because of the abuse she says children often face at home if they disclose to their parents they are transgender.

'We do provide a safe space for kids whose parents are not accepting, because it's known to help lower the suicide rate,' said Roush who is also a certified advocate for domestic violence victims.

'These kids are going to do it anyway, we just want a way to provide them with a way to do it safely to where they're not wearing clothes that are too small for them, or doing so in a way that's going to get them hurt by their parents.'"

The CFC added:

*“California schools have taken their effort to subvert parents a step further. An Oakland high school is creating a “transition closet” where students will be allowed to change out of the clothes that their “parents approved of” and into clothes that align with their gender identities.

*This is completely inappropriate and deceitful. In addition to gender ideology madness, this school is teaching children that it is acceptable to defy their parents.

They are teaching children that their personal thoughts and feelings should surmount the guidance of their God-given authorities. This dangerous sense of individualism threatens to destroy our country.

OUSD and the Transition Closet should be denounced and punished as firmly as possible.

This is one of many stories in which schools are attempting to subvert parents and even hide information from them, especially regarding students’ gender identity. The California Teachers Association even held a conference instructing teachers on how to undermine parents and indoctrinate students with progressive gender ideology.”
