

Team cardiologist – Eriksen had Pfizer vaccine twelve days before collapse

Description

Danish Soccer star Christen Ericksen collapsed during the Euro 2021 playoff match today. He nearly died during the game and his heart was restarted on the pitch. There are conflicting reports regarding whether Eriksen was vaccinated.

Enjoy your vacation at Palladium Hotel Palmyra, ideal for friends or couples looking for a unique vacation.

CORONAVIRUS

GREATGAMEINDIA

Danish Soccer Star Christen Eriksen Collapses, Heart Restarted On Pitch After Taking Pfizer Vaccine

Inter Milan player Eriksen, 29, dropped to the ground at the Parken Stadium shortly before half-time, leaving players from both teams in clear distress; English referee Anthony Taylor called medics on to the pitch and Eriksen's heart was restarted and he underwent prolonged CPR treatment, which saved his life.

There are conflicting reports regarding whether Eriksen was vaccinated.

An Italian sports site reports he has not been vaccinated — “He did not have Covid and was not vaccinated either. At this moment, Eriksen is under the guidance of the Danish medical staff.”

But the team cardiologist confirmed he got the Pfizer Vaccine 12 days ago.

Date Created

06/14/2021