

The Australian Government Is Offering To Pay For Funerals Of Those Who DIE From COVID Vaccines

Description

AUSTRALIA: The Australian government has seemingly acknowledged that COVID vaccines can kill people by updating its website to introduce a policy to pay funeral costs of people who die after getting vaccinated.

Thoughtfully, the Australian Government now includes funeral costs as part of their COVID-19 Vaccine Claims Scheme. <https://t.co/DaBSJht1qD> pic.twitter.com/69fEPy5qXs

The policy also includes a provision to pay compensation of up to $600,000 if hospitalisation is necessary due to injuries or health issues from vaccine.

The government website states that in order to claim the costs, relatives will have to provide

- the deceased's death certificate or medical cause of death certificate
- proof that you're acting on behalf of the deceased
- proof of any funeral costs and who paid, like receipts
- proof of any amounts you got or will get from third parties, like funeral insurance proof of the deceased's partner and children dependent on the earnings of the deceased at the time of death, if applicable.

The policy also contains advice on "How to calculate payments and funeral costs," advising claimants that "You need to show your actual costs for the funeral. Remember to deduct any amounts you got or will get from third parties."

The police also states that "One of the fantastic things about the scheme is that you can make a claim online seeking reimbursement for expenses or compensation for your injury without the need to involve a lawyer or commence formal legal proceedings."

Fantastic!

As we previously highlighted, Australia initiated perhaps the most draconian restrictions in the world during the pandemic:

In some cases, unvaccinated parents in Western Australia were not allowed to visit their own sick children in hospital, with news anchors celebrating the rule as an excellent way of forcing the unvaxxed to 'change their philosophy'.

Australia's chief pharmacist Trent Twomey announced that the public "just need to accept" they will have to take regular vaccine booster shots every six months and continue wearing masks for "many years" to come.

In some areas of the country, citizens were mandated to provide geo-trackable selfies to police to prove they were staying at home during lockdowns.

The country also built COVID quarantine camps for "ongoing operations," that saw those inside confined to mobile homes and watched 24/7 by guards.
