

The next round of lockdowns is coming, and it will be for “climate change”

Description

In order to “save the planet” from “global warming” and “climate change,” the county of Oxfordshire in the United Kingdom is imposing climate lockdowns to keep residents from moving about and “polluting” the environment with their existence.

The Oxfordshire County Council recently approved plans to lock residents into one of six zones throughout the county. Residents will need a special permit to travel from one “zone” to another – and even with a permit they will only be allowed to travel “a maximum of 100 days per year.”

All part of a so-called “15 minute city” agenda being pushed by Oxfordshire officials, these climate lockdowns will involve the use of electronic gates on key roads in and out of the city. Residents will have to present the proper credentials to get the gates to open, otherwise they will remain restricted to their homes and immediate neighborhoods.

“Under the new scheme if residents want to leave their zone, they will need permission from the Council who gets to decide who is worthy of freedom and who isn’t,” reports explain.

“Under the new scheme residents will be allowed to leave their zone a maximum of 100 days per year, but in order to even gain this every resident will have to register their car details with the council who will then track their movements via smart cameras round the city.” (Related: The International Energy Agency [IEA] is likewise pushing for climate lockdowns everywhere to help shift the world into a “green” energy paradigm.)

Are you willing to roll over and comply with climate lockdowns in your area?

It remains to be seen if Oxfordshire residents roll over and comply with the new plan, or if they rise up and revolt against it. We hope for their sake that they do the latter – and that they do it soon to deter the globalists from even attempting this same type of thing elsewhere.

If the Wuhan coronavirus (Covid-19) lockdowns taught us anything, it is that the globalists will stop at nothing to enslave the entire world if they know they can get away with it. Letting so-called “climate lockdowns” become a thing will result in permanent enslavement of the planet under perpetual globalist control.

At least one Oxfordshire official has already brazenly stated that regardless of how the public responds, “the controversial plan would go ahead whether people liked it or not.” This bodes ominous for Oxfordshire residents, and eventually the entire world if stopping this is unsuccessful.

France is similarly imposing climate lockdowns but in a different way. The government there recently banned certain short-haul flights to supposedly help curb “climate emissions” – this while the globalists gallivant around the world in their private, gas-guzzling luxury jets and yachts.

The European Commission (EC) was behind that decision, seeing as how France is a ground-zero testing ground for all things globalism in Europe – and the UK is not that far behind, truth be told.

“The plan was first proposed in 2021 as a means to reduce carbon emissions,” reports explain.

“It originally called for a ban on eight short-haul flights, but the EC has only agreed to nix three that have quick, easy rail alternatives with several direct connections each way every day.”

Then we have The Netherlands, which is trying to shut down thousands of private farms in order to reduce “nitrogen pollution.” This is another tactic of the “green” cult and its climate lockdown endeavors.

“We are in the beginning stages of an unprecedented global food crisis, and the Dutch government has decided that now is the time to shut down thousands of farms?” reports Michael from End of the American Dream.

“I don’t even have the words to describe how foolish this is.”
