

Weather weapons are targeting human infrastructure, aiming for Extinction Level Event (ELE) via mass famine and collapse

Description

USA: Today's Situation Update podcast covers the weaponization of weather systems to target human infrastructure. It is over two hours in length and features interviews with Dane Wigington (see below) as well as a first responder on the ground in Central Florida.

As these interviews reveal, exotic weapon systems are being used to achieve global biosphere destruction which encompasses agricultural collapse, fertilizer disruptions and supply chain breakdowns that are designed to achieve mass global famine.

If these attacks on our world are not stopped, they could end in an Extinction Level Event (ELE), warns Wigington (see below).

Each interview is posted here separately, followed by the full Situation Update podcast which includes other analysis.

First interview: Weather weaponization

- Dane Wigington from GeoengineeringWatch.org describes the weaponization of Hurricane Ian
- Modern tech can control the direction and intensity of storms and droughts
- Florida's phosphate fertilizer industry was in direct path of the hurricane
- Global attacks against the biosphere target crops, fertilizer and food production
- The destruction of the biosphere is aiming to be an Extinction Level Event (ELE)
- Globalists are unleashing ecological destruction that will take CENTURIES to heal

Brighteon.com/4caaaab6-2b28-4cbc-ac64-929ee4b94d9e

Second interview: Hurricane responders and satellite comms

- Total devastation of some areas will take YEARS to recover
- Fragile supply chain means parts and supplies won't be easily sourced for rebuilding
- First responder describes INJURIES and BODY BAGS being stockpiled
- Cell towers are down, power grid is down, but SATELLITE comms are functioning

- Tina from the Satellite Phone Store is handing out Bivy sticks and sat phones to responders
- Satellite phone owners in Florida are able to allow neighbors to call their families
- Police, firefighters, paramedics are using sat phones and Bivy sticks to coordinate rescue
- Florida's people are resilient, and Gov. DeSantis is offering outstanding leadership

Brighteon.com/784071dd-9905-4d4d-bb5b-ee64a003d1c3

Get the full analysis (2+ hours)

Full Situation Update podcast (which also includes the above two interviews):

- Featuring Dane Wigington of Geoengineering Watch who says Hurricane Ian was weaponized
- The storm took offline 50% of North America's phosphate fertilizer production
- Supply chain disruptions mean REBUILDING Florida will take years
- Black mold is about to start growing in all the water-saturated buildings and homes
- Second interview with hurricane first responder who says US Coast Guard has massive stockpile of BODY BAGS
- Actress takes vaccine, sees half her face PARALYZED, and says she would take it again
- San Francisco hands out free monkeypox vaccines to black people (no whites), trans and prostitutes
- US Congress military aid to Ukraine hits $65 billion, but no money for US border wall

by: Mike Adams

Category

1. Army-Wars-Conflict Zones-Military Tech.
2. Crime-Justice-Terrorism-Corruption
3. ECO-Climate-Environment
4. Main

Date Created

10/01/2022