

WHO whistleblower: Globalist puppets seek full control over humanity through deployment of COVID-19 pandemic treaty

Description

Former World Health Organization (WHO) Research and Ethics Review Committee member Astrid Stuckelberger recently revealed that globalist puppets are seeking full control through the Wuhan coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic treaty.

During her in-person appearance on “The HighWire with Del Bigtree,” she presented a diagram showing two major phases of the globalist agenda set between 2020 and 2023. According to Stuckelberger, the first phase involves sowing fear through the creation of the deadly virus and propagating scientific lies, deception and anxiety.

“Years 2020 and 2021 were really the creation of fear through a deadly virus. It is invisible and has not been studied. ‘Be afraid’ is really the motto,” Stuckelberger said, adding that the period also involved mandatory COVID-19 tests that were 95 percent false positive. She also mentioned that the mainstream media and other globalist-controlled puppets were in on the con.

The WHO whistleblower told host Del Bigtree that 2021 was the year when the experiment was really rolled out. Stuckelberger also pointed out that the company responsible for the experimental COVID-19 vaccine also leads the research. No independent audit was done and the contents of the vaccine vials were not disclosed.

The second part of the globalists’ plan that spans 2022 and 2023 involves “total control” – which includes the deployment of artificial intelligence (AI), digitalization, transhumanism and gene editing.

“There are many documents that say digitalization of the world... is the digital biotech, AI internet of things, internet of bodies, that is on one side. And the other side of the document is the genome editing,” she said.

In response to Bigtree’s query about who is behind the globalist depopulation agenda, Stuckelberger expounded: “If you look at it at the policy level, you look at the United Nations and the World Economic Forum and there are different layers of international organizations. WHO is at the top of that and they are the puppets of something above.

“Even the UN secretary general and above him, there is a group of people who are trying to direct him. Then there is the WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus and GAVI Alliance. What I see is that the governments of the world are not governments anymore. They’re CEOs of a huge group.”

Stuckelberger: Gene editing is a no-go

Bigtree also delved deeper into genome editing, remarking that this experimental endeavor is even causing cancer. He then asked his guest about her comment on the issue.

In response, Stuckelberger said genome editing is a no-go, citing the Oviedo Convention of 1997 that explicitly prohibits genome manipulation.

“It’s an inheritance of humanity,” she remarked. “But now the epigenome, which is how you express your genome, it’s going to code and express your health or your disease. You don’t touch the library.” According to Stuckelberger, the genome editing procedure happens when scientists take off a piece from the genome and put something else.

In 2022, biotech company Verve Therapeutics began the first human trial of the CRISPR genome editing system. In its early iteration, CRISPR was used to simply make cuts in DNA. Today, it’s being tested as a way to change existing genetic code, even by inserting all-new chunks of DNA or possibly entire genes into someone’s genome.

But the WHO whistleblower pointed out that based on studies about gene therapy, all the people who have changed their genome died in the next generation. “It cannot survive and it’s not been touched,” she warned.
