

Z-DAY APPROACHES as Russia prepares massive assault wave against Ukraine and NATO

Description

All signs point to a Russian offensive moving against Ukraine within the next 20 days. This offensive will be much larger in size and equipment compared to the February, 2022 offensive, but it will move more slowly and methodically, avoiding Blitzkrieg tactics and instead relying on by-the-book military doctrine of a slow, steady, relentless pummeling of the enemy while gaining ground.

This offensive is being called “Z-Day” and will reportedly involve over 700 aircraft, 1,800 Russian tanks and 500,000 soldiers, all designed to take down the Zelensky regime that has functioned as a proxy for NATO’s attempts to eliminate Russia from the world map.

Importantly, with the recent revelation that the Nord Stream pipelines were blown up by the USA working with Norway, Russia is currently updating its retaliation rules to allow a first strike “preventative” attack using nuclear weapons to prevent NATO from further threatening Russia’s existence.

Former US Marine and UN weapons inspector Scott Ritter just called for the arrest and criminal prosecution of Victoria Nuland and Joe Biden for masterminding the plot to destroy the Nord Stream pipelines.

This act of terrorism, carried out by the Pentagon, CIA, US Navy and State Dept., was also an act of war against Germany, a NATO “ally.” It makes us wonder whether Germany will declare an Article 5 violation and demand that other NATO countries attack the USA for its act of war against Germany.

In any case, Russia is on the verge of launching both a major offensive against Ukraine and also — potentially — a “preventative” nuclear strike against the USA and NATO targets across Europe.

Stolen elections have catastrophic consequences, and the USA may have only weeks remaining before we find ourselves in a global nuclear conflict from which no one emerges unscathed.
